

Handcrafted Chilean Wines

CJ Kingston headed to Chile in the early 1900s looking for gold. While “Gramps” never found his gold, five generations later we have planted grapes on his ranch and are blazing our own new trails in Chilean winemaking. From our hillside vineyards located in the far west of Chile’s Casablanca Valley, we specialize in small-production Pinot Noir, Syrah, and Sauvignon Blanc. Our wines are handcrafted and bottled on the family ranch and imported into the states and marketed from our office in California.

While coastal Casablanca Valley is mostly known for its whites, we noticed its distinct similarity to California’s Central and Sonoma coasts. Under the guidance of Winemaker Byron Kosuge, we are championing the region’s potential for cool-climate reds. Byron brings years of experience in cool-climate winemaking and vineyard management techniques honed at standout California pinot noir and syrah producers, including Saintsbury, Miura, and B Kosuge Wines.

The resulting wines are drawing attention to the changes occurring in Chile:

“NEW FACES SUCH AS KINGSTON FAMILY ARE BRINGING DIVERSITY AND EXCITEMENT TO CHILE”

– Wine Spectator

“KINGSTON FAMILY PRODUCES SOME OF CHILE’S BEST PINOTS”

– Food & Wine

“SOMMELIERS’ NEW CHILEAN FAVORITE”

– Wine Enthusiast

Finding Kingston Family Wines—A Selected List

New York

Aureole
Bar Boulud
Craft
Cru
Employee’s Only
Gordon Ramsay at the London
Gramercy Tavern
Jean Georges
Masa
Mercer Kitchen
Restaurant Daniel

Chicago

C-House
NoMi

Los Angeles

Campanile
Spago

Dallas

Bijoux
Charlie Palmer

San Francisco Bay Area

Citizen Cake
Cortez
Ferry Plaza Wine Merchant
Globe
Martini House
Plumpjack Wines
The Ritz Carlton
Town Hall
Ubuntu
The Village Pub

Las Vegas

Aureole
Delmonico Steakhouse
Michael Mina’s Stripsteak

Jackson Hole

The Amangani Resort

Aspen

Olives at The St. Regis